IT IS FESTIVAL TIME AGAIN

That time of year when keen performers travel to the city of Edinburgh, their cups running over with hope, their future plans waiting for the outcome of this joyous occasion.

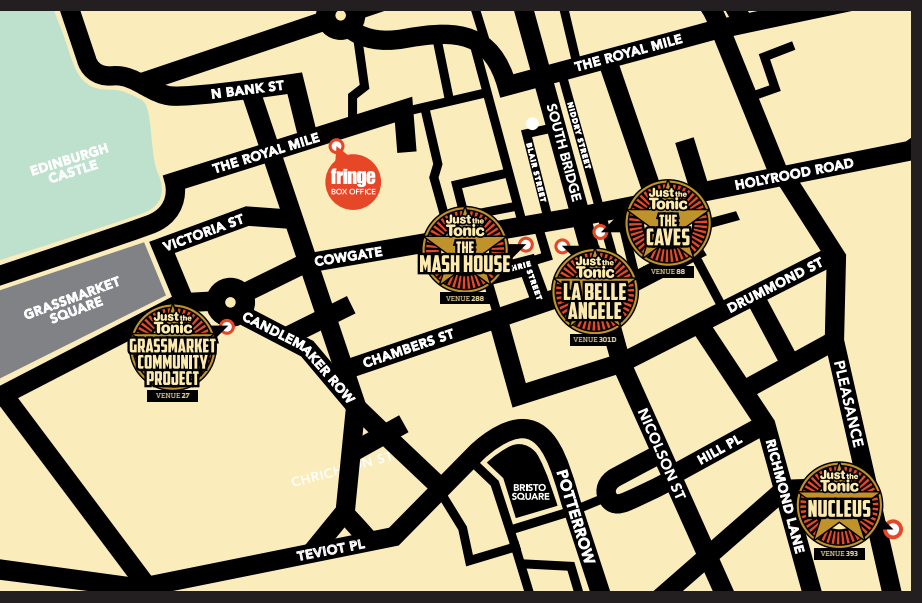

It is also that time of year when the culture consuming peoples of the world set their GPS destination to this great city, seeking to soak up entertainment from across our globe.

Some will seek out some old dependable faces, those that are reflected at them already through the flat screens of our times. The adventurous will be finding the new and seemingly undiscovered, taking pleasure in telling others of a great find, spreading the word and helping establish the next dependable faces for the folk that need public verification of what they can enjoy.

If you are one of the adventurous, then seek amongst our gems. These are the jewels that in years to come the safe houses of this festival will be stealing to display, showing them like a museum. BUT you will know their true origin, the real back story, for you were there when they were discovered!

You were at Just the Tonic.
